INFORMATION ABOUT HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN

AndersenFairyTales.com presents

The Story of Hans Christian Andersen

Hans Christian Andersen was Danish. He was born in Odense, Denmark, almost 200 years ago on April 2, I805. In fact, the year 2005 marked his 200th birthday!
His father was a shoemaker, and his mother was a washerwoman for rich people in large homes. In his stories you will find many themes of the differences between the poor and the rich. You will also find the occasional shoemaker.
Even as a child he always loved the arts, and he left home at age 14 to make his fortune. He was an artist, a singer and an actor, but he was not a success at first. He grew even poorer and almost died of hunger. He received some money and could afford to continue his education thanks to the help of a patron of the arts, the director of the Royal Theatre. He went to university in the capital city of Copenhagen and began writing.
Andersen was first known as a poet, and his poetry won him many patrons and paid his way to travel throughout Europe.
His first book of fairy tales was published in I835. The book was a success, and he followed it with many other volumes of children's stories, almost one a year, right up until I872! Because of his wonderful fairy tales, Andersen became known as the greatest writer in Denmark, and one of the most beloved children's authors in the world. In his lifetime, he wrote more than one hundred and fifty fairy tales, and his stories have been translated into over 100 languages!
One of the highest prizes in children's literature is the Hans Christian Andersen Award, presented to only one author and one illustrator every two years. It is presided over by Queen Margrethe II of Denmark.
Hans Christian Andersen was tall and skinny with a big nose he always thought that he was very ugly. His stories show compassion for those who are outcast and suffering. They also make fun of the spoiled and conceited.
His stories teach us that appearances can be deceiving, and that there is a magical beauty even within the most unlikely characters.

I first met Samantha in 2002. She was my brother's girlfriend. She was studying Physics and she loved travelling abroad. Her dream was to visit Peru in South America. This is why she wanted to learn Spanish. "I can help you", I told her. "What can you do about that?" she asked. "I have lived in Spain for five years because I was working there as an engineer. I can speak Spanish very well". "What a wonderful idea! Will I be able to speak Spanish in one year?" she asked. "Mmm, this is not so easy, but I think you will be able to communicate using simple phrases." "Not bad!", she said and gave me a kiss. Today Samantha lives in Peru and she works there. You see, while I was teaching her how to speak Spanish, she was thinking of finding a job there. I haven't seen her since the day she left; my brother either. I hope she is happy and she has found what she was looking for.
