The salty breeze tickles my nose
Boats sail away to faraway lands
Ice cream cones cold and sweet

2. Language Focus

2.1 Read the following sentences from the first chapters of Helen Keller's book 'Story of my Life' and change them into reported speech. Use a variety of reporting verbs.

Helen Keller (1880-1968) was an American author and lecturer. A serious illness left her deaf and blind when she was 19 months old. Her teacher Anne Sullivan played a crucial role in her life. She was able to teach Helen to speak using a special method (touching the lips and throat of others as they speak) combined with “fingerspelling” alphabetical characters on the palm of Helen’s hand.

26-0656_g_b_thinkteen_work_bm_104-131_28b.indd 48 25/10/2024 9:05:27 πμ

1. “I feel the need for communication with those around me.”
2. “I begin to make simple signs which my parents can understand.”
3. “When I’m unable to express my thoughts, I feel very angry.”
4. “My teacher has come to reveal all things to me.”
5. “Today my teacher made me understand that everything has a name. I learned many new words.”
6. “Now I’m lying in my bed thinking over the joy this day has brought me.”

26-0656_g_b_thinkteen_work_bm_104-131_28b.indd 49 25/10/2024 9:05:27 πμ

7. “Tomorrow I’ll wake with joy in my heart because I can see everything with the new beautiful sight which has been given to me.”

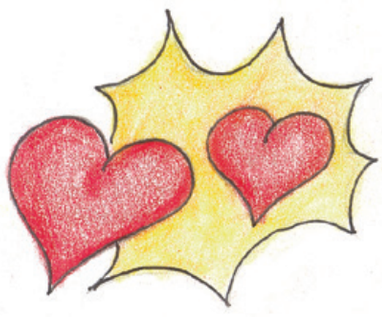

2.2 One morning Helen asked her teacher the meaning of the word ‘love’. Read what her teacher replied and then change it into reported speech. Use a variety of reporting verbs.

“Love is here in your heart. Feel your heartbeats”, she told Helen. “Love is something like the clouds that are in the sky before the sun comes out”, she said. Then she explained, “You cannot touch the clouds but you feel the rain and know how glad the flowers are to have it after a hot day. You cannot touch love either but you feel the sweetness that it pours into everything. Without love you would not be happy or want to play.”

26-0656_g_b_thinkteen_work_bm_104-131_28b.indd 50 25/10/2024 9:05:27 πμ

2.3 Read the following quotes by Hellen Keller. Discuss in pairs what you think she meant by them.

“The only thing worse than being blind is having sight but no vision.”
“Walking with a friend in the dark is better than walking alone in the light.”

Do you know the Braille code? It’s a code of six tiny raised dots, invented by a fifteen-year-old French boy, Louis Braille, two hundred years ago. It has brought literacy to thousands of people with visual disabilities worldwide. Helen Keller used the Braille code to learn how to read. Without it

How are things at school? My school is working with other European schools on an e-Project on the environment. Are you involved in any similar projects? Different parts of the world have different weather. Weather describes the daily changes in sunshine, clouds, temperature and rainfall at any one place. The average weather of a place is called its (1) ..... .
In deserts, the weather is very (2) ....., but it is not always hot. Some deserts are cold places because they are situated at high altitudes. A desert is anywhere with less than 25 centimetres of rain per year.

26-0656_g_b_thinkteen_work_bm_104-131_28b.indd 115 25/10/2024 9:05:30 πμ

In tropical rainforests, it's very (3) ..... . It rains nearly every day, and there are no summer or winter seasons. Rainforests are located near the (4) ....., where it’s hot all the time. Mountain climates change the higher up you go. Lower down, there is a lot of (5) ..... and trees. Higher up there are only ground plants. Some mountains reach higher than the clouds.

At this altitude the extreme cold and high winds cause (6) ..... . In some mountainous areas the rivers are permanently frozen and are called (7) ..... .
In Antarctica, around the South Pole, (8) ..... can fall to –60° Celsius in the winter. The snow rarely melts. The Arctic region in the North Pole is not quite as cold, because it is made up of frozen ocean and in the summer the snow melts.

Extreme weather affects people and places. Great amounts of rainfall may result in (9) ..... . When it does not rain for a long time, you get (10) ..... and crops do not grow. Hurricanes and other violent storms destroy people's homes. But perhaps we should count ourselves lucky we don't live on Saturn. Scientists have detected a 300-year-old storm there that is so powerful, it would flatten a big city!

MAKING OUR TOWN A BETTER PLACE

City planners want to reduce pollution, congestion, traffic and accidents in your town. They are going to:

- provide more ramps for people who need them
- provide more buses and trains
- provide safe footpaths away from traffic
- build special lanes for cyclists
- build by-passes so that traffic doesn't have to pass through the town centre

What do the people of your town think about these changes? Write their views in the speech bubbles below.

My biggest worry about my trip to China was what I will eat after hearing so many horror stories about the Chinese eating anything that move. But the food was the biggest surprise - I loved it! In fact, I felt lighter and more active than I was for a very long time. There was such a variety of dishes that we didn't eat the same thing twice.

26-0656_g_b_thinkteen_work_bm_104-131_28b.indd 129 25/10/2024 9:05:31 πμ

Luckily, I have practised my chopstick skills before the trip, so I could use them perfectly. We went to tea houses and are given demonstrations on how to make and serve tea.

What really impressed me though, was the Beijing Night Food Market. While I am strolling among the stalls, I have seen cooks making the local specialties such as starfish, snakes and scorpions! Most of the snacks were neatly arrange, kebab-style, on wooden skewers.

There were plenty of tourists biting into these things and having their photos taken. A Chinese friend of mine had a scorpion! ‘Go ahead! Perfectly safe! It is tasting like a potato chip’, he cried, grinning. It was an offer I refused! If you will visit the Night Market one day, will you try an insect? Crunch! Crunch!...
